

How Much Is That? Shopping in English

Mastering the language of prices, currency, and market transactions.

STUDENT NAME:

DATE:

INSTRUCTIONS

Welcome to the Market!

Shopping for food is a great way to practice your English. Today, we will learn how to ask about prices, talk about money, and complete a transaction at a local market. Follow the exercises below to prepare for your next shopping trip!

Market Price List

Look at the items below and write the price in words. Use the example to help you.

| Item | Price ($) | Price in Words |
|-------|------------|----------------|
| Apple | $0.50 | _____ |
| Bread | $2.25 | _____ |
| Milk | $3.99 | _____ |
| Eggs | $4.50 | _____ |

At the Market Dialogue

Fill in the blanks to complete the shopping conversation.

much

price

bag

bill

Customer: Excuse me, how _____ is this bag of apples?

Seller: Those are three dollars and fifty cents.

Customer: That's a good _____. I will take them.

Seller: Great. Would you like a _____?

Customer: Yes, please. Here is a five-dollar _____. Keep the change!

Quick Review: Shopping Phrases

Provide the correct English phrase for each shopping situation.

You want to know the cost of an item.

You want to pay with a card.

You need a bag for your items.

You want to say the price is too high.

✓ True or False?

Read the statements about shopping etiquette and decide if they are true or false.

1 It is polite to say 'Excuse me' when starting a conversation with a seller.

 T F

2 You should never ask for the price before buying something.

 T F

3 Saying 'Keep the change' means you are giving a small tip.

 T F

4 You must always pay with exact coins.

 T F