

🌍 Planning Your Perfect Weekend Getaway

Mastering travel vocabulary and modal verbs for possibility.

STUDENT NAME:

DATE:

INSTRUCTIONS

✈️ Getting Started

Planning a trip is an exciting challenge! Look at the image and imagine you have a free weekend. Where would you go? Use this worksheet to organize your ideas, practice modal verbs, and prepare to share your travel plans with a partner.

🗺️ Destination Dilemmas: This or That?

Choose your preferences for your trip and explain your choice using a modal verb (e.g., I might choose the mountains because I could go hiking.)

Option A	Option B	My Choice	Reason (Use might/could)
Beach	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----
City Break	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----
Train Travel	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----
Hotel	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----	----- ----- -----

 Travel Planning Tips

Fill in the blanks using the words from the bank to complete the paragraph about planning a successful trip.

might could should can may

When planning a weekend trip, it is important to be flexible. You _____ (1) want to visit a popular museum, but it might be closed. Always check the weather forecast because it _____ (2) rain during your stay. If you are traveling by train, you _____ (3) book your tickets in advance to save money. Remember to pack light so you _____ (4) move around easily. Finally, leave some free time in your schedule; you _____ (5) discover a hidden gem while walking around the city!

---

---

---

---

---

 Modal Verb Quick Review

Rewrite the sentences to express possibility or suggestion using the modal verbs provided.

It is possible that I will go to Paris. (Use might)

---

---

---

It is a good idea to pack an umbrella. (Use should)

---

---

---

Maybe we will visit the museum. (Use could)

---

---

---

It is possible that the hotel is full. (Use may)

---

---

---

✔ Travel Etiquette Check

Read these travel statements and decide if they are True or False.

1 You should always confirm your flight details 24 hours before departure.

 T F

2 It is impossible to change your plans once you have booked a trip.

 T F

3 Packing a first-aid kit is a good idea for any trip.

 T F

4 You should never talk to locals if you are lost.

 T F